BAPTISTS CLOSE ADA CONVENTION AT FRIDAY NOON

Illness of Dr. G. W. McPherson Prevents Program for Night Session.

MILLER IS PRESIDENT

Morris Honored by Selection to Prominent School Positions.

Forced to close on account of the lamented illness of Dr. G. W. McPherson of New York City at Oklahoma City, the annual General Baptist Convention completed the work of its Ada convention at noon today at the Convention Hall.

Miscellaneous business with the reports of home and foreign mission board committees accompanied the farewells of messengers who attended one of the most successful three-day conventions of the state Baptists at Ada this week.

With considerable regret the announcement was made late last night that Doctor McPherson, scheduled to address the convention to-night, had been suddenly taken ill at Oklahoma City and would not be able to fulfill his engagement before the convention. The convention business being practically over, the move for convention adjournment was accepted at noon today.

Chickasha Next Center

With the closing of the Ada convention, state Baptists have turned their eyes to Chickasha, the convention center of the Baptist pilgrimage for next year as decided by the ballot vote late yesterday. Dr. A. N. Hall, pastor of the First Baptist church of Muskogee, will deliver the Convention sermon at Chickasha.

With the selection of Chickasha as the next Convention center, Baptists again placed Rev. R. C. Miller, pastor of the First church at Mangum, in the chair as president of the convention. Other officers of the convention elected were: Dr. J. W. Jent of Shawnee and Rev. W. O. Leach of Bristow vice presidents; Rev. E. B. Hamilton of Elk City recording secretary for the seventh consecutive time; Rev. Dan Curd of Gary, assistant recording secretary; Dr. J. B. Rounds, corresponding secretary.

In the auxiliary organization elections preceding the General Baptist Convention, Mrs. R. T. Mansfield of Claremore was named president of the Womens Missionary Union and Mrs. Berta K. Spooner of Oklahoma City was re-elected corresponding secretary. The Oklahoma Baptist Conference, the assembly of pastors held on Monday and Tuesday of the week, named Rev. E. A. Spillers of Checotah as president, Rev. R. Peterson of Heavener as vice president and Rev. Curtis of Cheyenne as secretary.

Morris Thanks Citizens

Rev. C. C. Morris, under whose ceaseless interest the Convention had reached success, was honored by the convention in the election to the board of trustees of the Oklahoma Baptist University and Baptist Bible Institute of New Orleans. Morris was also named chairman of the committee in the order of business for the next year.

Reverend Morris extended his gratification of the valuable assistance of citizens of Ada in their contribution to the success of the Convention. Morris especially vouched his appreciation to the civic clubs of the city, the women's organizations of the churches serving meals during the convention and to the citizens who opened their homes to the visitors.

Morris stated that no word of criticism had been voiced by messengers who attended the convention here, but only the highest marks of praise for the efforts extended by citizens to the hospitality rendered during their stay in Ada.

The Baptist General Convention engaged in a warm but good natured discussion Thursday night in reference to plans for the financing of the Oklahoma Baptist University at Shawnee. Dr. J. B. Lawrence, president of the institution, and others wanted a special financing plan put through for next summer to raise money for the school. J. B. Rounds, general secretary, opposed the movement and insisted that nothing ought to interfere with the plans for the completion of the Seventy-five Million campaign.

Speeches waxed eloquent and some time heated, but there was no animosity and no ill feeling. The opposition led by Rounds eventually won out, and the University will continue as in the past. Dr. Lawrence warned the convention, however, that the same sub-

Both the Holland and Berlin governments have sanctioned the move despite the protest of the allied nations.

ADA GRID TEAMS READY FOR TILTS

Ada Hi Meets Purcell Here While Tigers Invade Goldbug's Nest.

While Ada's high school football squad is battling with one of its outstanding contenders on the local gridiron today, Ada's college squad, the East Central Tigers is being pitted against the Goldbugs of Oklahoma City College at Oklahoma City.

In the two conflicts the Ada teams meet worthy opponents, who have made high marks in the two divisions of football history in the state.

The Ada Hi squad, which has set the local fans to thinking the past two games on the local gridiron, have as their opponents, the Purcell high school, one of the strong teams in this section of the state.

The Ada Hi has established a phenomenal record this year of winning all but one game in battles in which they have been outweighed by several pounds. Coach Cox took the difficult job of moulding squad out of a bunch of youngsters, practically new in the ethics of football. Only three letter men reported at the beginning of the season for the team.

The Ada Hi convinced Ada fans that they had not been paid proper recognition in their last game here with Henryetta when the out weighed squad of youngsters played the opponents off the field over a nine-point lead.

In the college game at Oklahoma City, Coach Joe Milam played regularly in the lineup, their part will be missed in the fray.

Coach Milam, however, has revised his backfield machine with other players on his team and expects to take the heavy end of the score at Oklahoma City.

The aerial game, in which East Central Tigers have shown superiority in favorable weather conditions, is expected to bear a part in the Tiger offensive on the foreign field.

The Tigers will meet the Alva Rangers on the following Friday, which will serve as a forerunner to the traditional conflict with South-eastern of Durant here on Thanksgiving.

OVER FIVE THOUSAND OF STATE SHRINE AT CAPITAL

(By the Associated Press) OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 16.—More than 5,000 Shriners are expected to take part this afternoon in the ceremonial at India temple here. A parade in which most of the visitors will participate will feature the gathering. The first assembly in the new India temple was held this morning but the structure is not complete and formal dedication will be held later. A delegation of 100 Shriners arrived this morning from Tulsa and closely following was a number from Wichita Falls, Texas.

Convention Sidelights

E. D. Hamilton, secretary of the convention, is pastor of the Baptist Church at Elk City. He is a graduate of Baylor University, Waco, Texas, and is a most likable man. He is the large good looking man who sits at the table on the stage. His assistant is Dan Curd of Fairview. They are hard workers and are kept busy during convention days.

Dr. J. B. Lawrence is president of the Baptist University but says he is anxious to get back into the pulpit. He is one of the leading members of the convention.

Secretary J. B. Rounds has a unique history. Unlike most church men, he was not brought up in a Christian home, but grew up in a Canadian saloon. He was converted in an early day, however, and has been a minister for a number of years. It is upon his shoulders that much of the burden rests for putting over the work of the Seventy-five Million campaign this state.

C. P. Stealey, editor of the Baptist Messenger and manager of the Baptist Book Store at Oklahoma City, is one of the most enthusiastic Baptists in the state. He is fast bringing the publication to the front. He has a brother who is a strong Presbyterian.

POINCARÉ TO OPPOSE ACTION OF BRITISH

(By the Associated Press) PARIS, Nov. 16.—Premier Poincaré took issue with Prime Minister Baldwin of Great Britain as who is to blame for the present Franco-British differences when he rose unexpectedly from his seat in the chamber of deputies this afternoon during an interpellation on foreign affairs.

"I cannot let it be said that it is our fault that an agreement has not been reached," Poincaré declared. "For several years we have not ceased to make concession of our rights and it is not to be said that our attitude is uncompromising."

The premier said he did not intend to speak because he could not at this time discuss certain subjects, but the occurrences in the British parliament late yesterday could not be allowed to pass and must be answered immediately.

Federal Officers Active Sumpter, have continued their activities in Pontotoc county and as a result of their vigilance another arrest on a charge of violation of the federal liquor law was recorded from the Francis vicinity. The victim is being held in the county jail for further disposal.

BREACH WIDENS IN ALLIED ROW

France and England Nearing Brink Over German Affairs.

(By the Associated Press) LONDON, Nov. 16.—Indications are multiplying that England and France are approaching the parting of the ways on the question of how to deal with Germany.

France's threatened penalties against Germany if she does not recede from her position on the extradition of the former crown prince and the re-establishment of full allied military control in Germany are declared in government circles here to be wholly unacceptable to England.

These penalties are understood to be:

1. Seizure of more railroads east of the occupied area which would probably eventually include the occupation of Frankfurt by the French.

2. Consolidation and extension of the Franco-Belgian military positions in the Ruhr.

3. The occupation of Hamburg and Bremen.

Paris dispatches today said that high officials of the French foreign office declared that they knew nothing of any plans for French occupation of Hamburg and it is taken for granted that this declaration would also include Bremen.

Great Britain holds that all the threatened sanctions to be in violation of the treaty of Versailles and would plunge Germany into deeper economic and political mire from which she could not extricate herself.

Lodge Prepares to Convene Congress in Regular Session

(By the Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, Republican leader of the senate, returned to his office here today to prepare for the convening of the next congress. He called on President Coolidge and arranged for another White House appointment later to discuss at length the legislative program.

Commenting on Hiram Johnson's candidacy for the Republican nomination, Senator Lodge said:

"Senator Johnson and I are close personal friends and I hope will always remain so. I am for Mr. Coolidge for the Republican nomination. Senator Johnson knows this and the whole country should know it."

Large Auto Power.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—By January the world will have in operation 17,000,000 automobiles, passenger cars and trucks, according to an estimate by M. H. Hoepfl, chief of the automotive division of the commerce department.

Three thousand motorcycles are in use in British Malaya.

PARDON USE PUT TO EXPOSURE IN COURT TESTIMONY

Man Testifies $5,000 Paid to Walton Colleague to Secure Pardon.

MATHER GETS MONEY

Father of Pardoned Son Exposes Plot to Obtain His Release.

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 16.—Details of the alleged $5,000 transaction by which Virgil Hollingshead, serving a 27-year sentence on an automobile theft charge gained a pardon were bared today before the senate court by J. D. Hollingshead, his father testifying for the prosecution in the impeachment trial of Gov. J. C. Walton.

Hollingshead, a Noble county farmer, told the court that he had been approached by L. S. Flannery, a Ponca City police officer, who told him that he had been commissioned a special state officer by the governor and that he could get Virgil Hollingshead out of the penitentiary for $5,000. Hollingshead said he mortgaged two farms to get Flannery the amount after his son was pardoned.

He represented Flannery as saying he had great power over the executive and would get young Hollingshead out on a leave of absence.

Hollingshead testified that he saw attorney, a check for $2,200 and some bills.

Harry Glasser, state senator from Enid, asked the witness if Roberts had told him he was "a disbarred attorney from Kansas and had no standing in Fairview or Enid."

Hollingshead replied in the negative.

Flannery later asked Hollingshead to sign a paper stating that Flannery had offered to refund $2,500, the witness said. Hollingshead testified that he refused.

Fred Mugler, banker at Perry, testified that Flannery told him that he held a special state commission from Governor Walton. Hollingshead said he did not know Flannery until the latter visited him with Roberts.

Mather Gets Part of Money

James H. Mather, an Ardmore attorney and former county attorney of Carter County, got $500 from Flannery in connection with the Hollingshead case, Mather testified.

Mather underwent an examination from both sides and answered numerous questions put by members of the court regarding the Hollingshead pardon.

He said he could not recall if Flannery told him what the $500 was paid for and said he had previously made Flannery a loan but the amount had escaped his memory.

Frequent objections by the defense prevented some of the questions from being answered.

F. E. Riddle, chief of Governor Walton's counsel, stated that the defense would probably go to Atlanta, Ga., to take the deposition of N. C. Jewett, grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan of Oklahoma, in the event service on Jewett could not be obtained here. Riddle did not say Jewett was in Atlanta.

"Material records would be attached as part of Jewett's deposition in Atlanta if no such records are found in Oklahoma," Riddle said.

Subpoena for Jewett, seeking the Klan membership list in Oklahoma and state records was issued yesterday, according to Riddle. He said he did not know if service had yet been obtained.

Williams Parole Aided

An attempt to adjourn the trial room Friday until Monday morning was defeated by the court.

In the absence of two important witnesses house managers took up the consideration of the parole issued to Ira Williams, sentenced to the state penitentiary from Oklahoma county on a statutory charge.

Sophia Reed of Enid, sister of Williams, testified that C. P. Kellogg promised her a pardon for $2,000, she testified, after first asking $3,000.

Kellogg told Mrs. Reed, she testified, that Gibbons was a "very close friend of the governor" and that Kellogg was certain a pardon could be obtained. Williams was given a parole instead, she said. She accepted the parole with the understanding that Kellogg and Gibbons would later obtain a pardon, according to the testimony.

Harry Hunter, secretary for Gibbons, brought Mrs. Reed the parole. She said and refused $1,000 which was all she had been able to raise. Gibbons in the end received $1,000 and $500 more was paid to other parties, Mrs. Reed testified. She mortgaged her home to raise the money, she said.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Cotton sold at 34.60 at the opening on the exchange here today, an advance of 70 points and a new high figure for the season.

County Roads Not Hard Hit Through Recent Heavy Rains

While the roads in Pontotoc county suffered a heavy material loss from the recent rains that followed the deluge that has kept the county roads at times impassable during the past two months, traffic to Ada from other points in the county has suffered little, according to Rit Ervin, county clerk.

Ervin stated that reports had been received from all parts of the county that roads were passable to Ada, although recent rains have made passage difficult.

During the last respite from rains, commissioners rushed repair work on roads and bridges to such an extent that the recent rains did not undo the total of their efforts.

Commissioners were reported busy today grading and repairing roads for the winter months.

Postoffice Lends Veil For Shippers

With Christmas holidays only a matter of a few weeks away, local postoffice officials were preparing to post their "mail early" notices with other instructions of the building for the busy patrons to observe or suffer the consequences.

The time-worn instructions posted annually by the department deal with the urgent appeal for the secure wrapping of parcels as well as insistence on clean, legible addresses on parcels.

Other instructions in the shipment of various and sundry articles and the prohibiting clauses against the shipment of perishables and articles containing liquids, glass articles.

While no arrangements have been made at the present time Postmaster Manville assured that facilities would be arranged to handle the rush of the holiday period.

No parcels have been received at the office for Christmas shipment to foreign countries but Ada's contributions to the foreign mails is expected within the next two weeks.

MOTHER TO IDENTIFY HER MISSING CHILD

(By the Associated Press)

Ft. Smith, Ark., Nov. 16.—Mrs. Leta Turner, mother of three-year old Pearl Turner, who disappeared three weeks ago, left Ft. Smith early today with Charles Allen, Sheriff of Scott county, to establish the identity of the child located in the home of Mrs. B. D. Wells, proprietor of a boarding house at Pitcher, Oklahoma.

Mrs. Turner, several days ago after viewing a picture of the child at Pitcher and checking over the description, aided to identify her as her daughter, but decided to go to Pitcher when Chalmers Ferguson, self-styled "poet-hermit" and acquaintance of the Turner family, declared the child is the missing girl.

William Holman brought the child to Pitcher and insists that she is his daughter. Holman is in jail at Miami serving a sentence imposed for a minor offense.

"I should never be satisfied if I did not go," Mrs. Turner told newspaper when she boarded the train.

Forbes Continues Denials of Past Bureau Charges

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—The sharpbladed shears of the senate veterans' committee drove forward again today through the affairs of C. R. Forbes, former director, and turned over another collection of charges, denials and countercharges.

With Forbes on the stand under cross-examination the inquiry covered a wide field of subjects ranging up from yesterday's accounts of alleged drinking parties and pleasure trips. The former director continued to deny generally and specifically the accusations of misconduct that have been made against him.

LOVE RIVALRY IS SEED OF SLAYING OF FOUR VICTIMS

Parents of Girl, Rival and Officer Slain by Suiter.

POSSES ON SEARCH

Quarrel With Rival First Step Toward Tragedy of Four Deaths.

(By the Associated Press)

KELLIHER, Minn., Nov. 16.—A mad man, slayer of four, is fleeing through the north woods today before a posse formed here and which took up the search at dawn.

Leonardo Portana, 33, yesterday slew Mr. and Mrs. John Sanders, 60 of whose 15-year-old daughter Myrtle he was enamored, Oscar Kimmey, 30, a farmer and suitor of the girl, J. A. Wilson, marshal of this village and deputy sheriff, who sought to arrest him.

The shootings occurred at separate times in the morning and afternoon. Before fleeing the murderer went to a timber cutting plant he operated and left a signed confession to the crimes with the list of dead.

Early yesterday Kimmey and Portana engaged in a quarrel over Myrtle during which Portana shot Kimmey through the leg. Kimmey came to the village to have his wound dressed and reported case to Wilson.

While Kimmey was gone Portana went to the Sanders home and killed the mother of his sweetheart. Later he met the girl's father, took him to a nearby cabin, bound him to a bed post and shot his head off.

Slays Officer and Rival

Portana went on towards the village and when near there met Wilson who attempted to arrest him for wounding Kimmey. Portana shot the officer dead.

Not far from the spot where Wilson was lying dead the slayer met Kimmey. Again his revolver spat a fatal bullet, Kimmey falling dead.

Although Myrtle Sanders was missing it was definitely stated last night that she was unharmed. It is believed that some neighbor is sheltering her at a home nearby to help her bear her sorrow caused by the loss of her parents, it was said today.

More than 30 men gathered here last night and formed a posse. Many more are on the way to join in the hunt.

The killer was avoided by local people because of his hasty temper. He recently was before the grand jury as the result of a controversy with his brother, a nearby farmer and his only known relative. The grand jury returned no indictment, however, and the nature of the case was not disclosed.

EDUCATION WEEK TO BE IN SCHOOL PLAN

The public of Ada is urged to visit the schools next week, Education week, and see for themselves what the schools are doing, get acquainted with the teachers and to understand more clearly the system in vogue.

This is part of the national observance of Education Week. The intention of the week is to get the public in general better informed as to the work of the public schools are doing, in order that a better program of work may be carried out in a better way.

In Ada, Superintendent Hickman is not making any preparation for a show. He is simply going ahead in the regular way and says he wants the public to see the schools in their every-day clothes rather than in their Sunday clothes. In other words, he wants the parents and others interested to know what the schools are doing from week to week throughout the year. In no other way can they get a true appreciation of the problems and opportunities before the teachers and executives.

WITNESSES SAY AGGIE BOARDED CONTRACTS OK

Mrs. Iva Mitchell, secretary of the state board of agriculture, and Pete Coyne, former member, told the house investigating committee today that all contracts for buildings at the A. and M. college during their connection with the board had been regularly let, according to A. R. Sengstacker, a member of the committee which participated in the investigation of the charges against John A. Whitehurst, president of the board.

SYNOPSIS

CHAPTER I.—On the banks of the Wabash stand Texie and Jack Warhope, young and very much in love. Texie is the only daughter of old Pap Simon, rich man and money-lender. Jack is the orphan boy of Pap Simon, who had foreclosed a mortgage on the Warhope estate. At first Texie and Jack talk sadly of Ken Collin, the girl's missing brother. Then Jack says that in ten days his servitude will be over, that he will go to California for gold and that he will come back. Then the Milford stage comes in, bringing Rev. Caleb Hopkins, the new minister of Buckeye, in the Flatwoods.

CHAPTER II.—Simon Collin welcomes the minister and introduces the villagers. The preacher is a young man with a beard, enormous spectacles, stiff neck stock and patent leather boots.

"All the same," snarled the postmaster, "if I had a gal—which I ain't got, n'a never had—I wouldn't want 'er thrown with 'im like Sime Collin's gal is, an' she shouldn't be nuther."

"Aw, well, Zeke," drawled Uncle Nick, "if she tuck after 'er daddy in looks, I reckon they wouldn't be no great danger."

The raucous laugh that followed from the crowd jarred the postmaster. "I don't care what y'u say," he shrilled in his high, thin voice, "Texie Collin's got good looks enough, if that's what y'u want. I dunno what Sime Collin's a-thinkin' about. It ain't like 'im, 't take in a teetotal furner than a-way, preacher 'r no preacher—don't keer if 'e was a classmate o' Ken's. That ain't no recommend, nohow—beldn' a classmate o' Ken's—'r he was as orn'y as the devil makes 'em. They're bound to be thrown together more'n they ought 't be."

"Ain't much more'n a kid, nuther," the blacksmith remarked, apparently thoughtfully impressed, as he searched his pockets for a match.

"Som'er's around seventeen 'r eighteen—"

The postmaster glanced across at Uncle Nick, as if for confirmation of his statement. The old man took the cracker barrel. His chair came down with a bang, and his voice rang like struck metal. "You're goin' a leetle too fur. They's thousan's an' tens o' thousan's o' gals that can't be drawn on, no matter what feller comes along.

"There's a heap more nice gals than men. They never was a bad gal but what ther' was a bad man first. An' after it's over—she's done. All endurin' the years 't come her heart has 't be drug in the dust, while the man—no, I won't call 'im man, an' I can't call 'im beast, 'r the beasts 'r clean compared—carries 'is head as high as b'fore. I tell y'u, people hain't never looked at them things right. The man d'serves 't be judged accordin' 't the same way the gal is—only more so."

A hush fell over the group. The blacksmith sat patting his foot softly on the floor. Presently his calloused hand came down upon his knee with a sounding slap, while his eyes, dull at most times from long looking into the forge fire, lighted with the fervor of his feelings.

"Good fr you, Uncle Nick! I agree with y'u complete. That's my kind o' preachin'—right 't the p'int."

"My sentiments to a hair," chimed in the fisherman. "I alwys takes the girl's part an' be d—d 't the man. That's how I lost this eye. It was when—but no matter, I hain't never b'gud it—"

The fisherman's lone eye settled into a vacant stare at a crack in the floor; the hard lines of his face deepened. Could the others have glimpsed back of that seamed and weather-beaten mask, they might have read there the deep, graven memory of a day that was dead—a dream and an awakening, a romance and a tragedy—that had driven him, as the storm drives the driftwood, with what the world calls a crime slated against him, to bury his life here with his dog and fishing gear, alone in his bachelor cabin on the river shore.

"Yes, them's mighty fine sentiments," cut the thin edged voice of the postmaster across the silence—and the dream dissolved in the fisherman's eyes—"an' I mostly agrees with 'em an' says amen to 'em, an' the new parson may be all 'e's cracked up to be, but still I ain't takin' back nothin'."

Zeke's thin voice ceased, lost somewhere in the cavernous labyrinth of his sharp, inquisitive nose.

Uncle Nick prodded down the contents of his pipe with his finger and smoked a while in silence. Taking the stem from between his lips after a time, he blew the smoke away, slowly, as if to get the full taste of it, and waved the pipe across toward the postmaster—a well understood preliminary to a renewal of the argument.

"At the moment Logé Belden took a gulp from his bottle of 'squirrel,' put the cork in, slapped it tight and slouched up along the counter.

"Say, I'd just like 't put one 't that. This evenin' as I come up the River road past this hyur Warhope home—stead an' Sime Collin's house, I stopped a little bit on the bridge across Eagle run an' happened 't look over in the orch'd b'twixt o' Sime's an' the parsonage. Y'u know ther's a spring along the creek thar under the edge o' the hill, an' ther's a bench 't set on under the maple tree by the spring.

"Well, as I come a-past, thar set this hyur new parson an' that Texie gal on that bench, an' as near as I could make out, bein' purty well along tow'rd dark, he had 'is arm around 'er. You fellers 'r wastin' a lot o' breath on that gal. I 'low the parson—"

The room suddenly was deadly still, with every eye turned toward the door. Belden felt the stillness; hesitated; turned—

In the open door, framed in sharp outline against the dark background of the nightfall, stood the tall form of Jack Warhope.

Belden grinned oddly; muttered a word or two; leaned against the counter and looked down at the floor.

With the reach and spring that only the woods and hills can give, Warhope walked into the room.

"I 'low y'u must 'a been mistook about that—arm."

"Not a d—n bit."

Like lightning came the sharp smack of an open hand that fanned Belden's head back. He leaped away from the counter and struck—a good smashing swing, clean from the hip; but it didn't land.

It was apparent that Belden had a high opinion of his ability as a rough and tumble fighter, for he stepped right in and mixed it fast and furious—the whirlwind give and take of the mountains. The man he faced ducked or sidestepped or dashed aside everything Belden had, and came back with an occasional jab that was maddening.

Belden lost his temper—the mistake of many a better man—and lunged viciously. He ran into an uppercut to the chin that doubled him back over a barrel of salt. He whirled up, and his right hand clawed the butt of a pistol out of his pocket.

The pistol came out, but that was all. A heavy six-gun leaped from the woodsman's side, a bullet crashed into the pistol butt, gashed Belden's hand slightly and tore on into the salt barrel.

The woodsman stuck the six-gun back into the holster at his hip, hidden by his hunting blouse, knatched Belden by the collar and jerked him out into the middle of the floor.

"I 'low y'u must 'a been mistook about that arm."

Belden's small beady eyes burned like hot rupper as he wrung his hand. He cursed the pain; swallowed hard; finally muttered:

"The light warden't none too dern good. I 'low I must 'a."

The woodsman dropped the other's collar, talked a moment or so with pipe from between his lips and sat tapping the stem against his thumb nail.

They's Thousan's and Tens o' Thousan's o' Gals that Can't be Drawed On, No Matter What Feller Comes Along.

"I 'low y'u not fur off," he answered meditatively to the postmaster's look. "Big Jack's twenty past, an' I've hear'n say Texie was three years younger to a day. That would bring 'er right around seventeen 'r eighteen."

"An' s'poson she is—every lick of it," the postmaster went on. "A gal ain't got none too much sense at eighteen—an' ther' ain't no gal but what can be drawn on, if the right feller comes along."

"Hol on thar, Zeke, hol on!" Uncle Nick had been leaning back against a

INDIAN CONGRESS TO SEEK RELIEF MEANS

(By the Associated Press)

Delhi, India.—The Indian National Congress in special session has reaffirmed its adherence to non-violent non-co-operation and the boycott of British goods as means toward obtaining ernment. Although the ban to council-entry was removed, the congress voted to embark upon a definite program of civil disobedience at an early date.

The congress, with of more than 5,000, stressed importance of tremists and moderates and between Hindus and Mohammedans in the struggle for home rule.

Maulana Abdul Kalam Azad, president of congress, declared in his opening speech that three years

Uncle Nick and Counterman about the seining trip next day—the matter that had brought him into the store—and passed out at the door. The crowd gathered around Belden.

Uncle Nick picked up the broken pistol and stuck it back, muttering as he examined the gashed hand.

"Y'u ort 'a had more sense than 't pull on him. He ain't no ways spry on talk, but he can pick hick'ry nuts with a six-gun."

CHAPTER V

Arrows of the River Gods.

The Rev. Caleb Hopkins was at the boat landing in good time next morning.

The others were already there, sitting in the long skiff, Uncle Nick in the stern, Jack Warhope and Al Counterman at the oars, the latter still holding the boat to the wharf.

In his nervous and mincing way the preacher scrambled in; Counterman shoved off; the oars dropped into the water; and, with the seine coiled up on the stern locker under the experienced care of Uncle Nick, the live box towing behind, the skiff slipped away up the river toward Alpine Island.

Alpine Island divides the Wabash into two nearly equal channels. The skiff was guided into the north channel, and had glanced along nearly to the head of the island when Counterman rested his oars with the remark that just there would be a good place to make the first haul.

The skiff was accordingly turned in to the island, and the crowd drawn up on the sandy margin. Each man, Uncle Nick excepted, hurriedly undressed, stacked his clothes in the boat and drew on his rough fishing garments.

In strict justice to the truth it must be stated that only Counterman and the woodsman hurriedly undressed. The preacher was far slower and quite noticeably embarrassed over the unusual experience. The ragged boots too large, the shabby trousers too tight, the faded straw hat ridiculously unbecoming, it was the queerest wading rig ever seen along the Wabash. The others eyed it askance and winked around at one another. Even

But when the usual circuit was completed and they began to haul in on the seine, it was noticed that it did not bow out in the wide curve a spread seine should. Instead, as the men pulled, the sides drew in toward each other until the floating corks stretched out into the river in nearly parallel lines.

"Hung up, by thunder," growled Counterman, scraping the sweat from his grimy forehead with a grimier forefinger. "Snag 'r somethin' about forty yards out thar—right whar the bottom's out, too, as the feller says."

Jack walked up the bank a short distance to where the boat was beached.

Stripped to the skin, a figure that might have been a model for those master sculptors who conferred immortality upon the gods of classic Greece, he was just slipping into the water when Uncle Nick came up the bar.

"You'll find the lead line fast on somethin'—a snag more'n likely," he directed. "Jist 'list it off. Tain't no trick—but we've lost our fish."

Warhope glanced back over his shoulder and nodded. The next moment he was plowing through the stream with strokes so powerful it seemed his great shoulders fairly scorned the water and spurned it out of the way. But the task ahead proved harder than the light remark of his old friend had indicated. It was only after he had three times dived to the bottom of Alpine hole that he was able to locate the snag and release the seine.

When he swam ashore, following the seine as Uncle Nick and Counterman hauled it in, the preacher, who had come up the bar, was seated on the forward gunwale of the boat, feeling over his clothes stacked in the bow, as if eager to assure himself that they had not come to harm.

The woodsman was putting his wading clothes on again when a slight thud, as of some heavy object striking the bottom of the boat, caught his quick ear. Without turning his head—he happened to be just then squeezing the water out of his hair before putting his shirt on—he was able to catch a glimpse of the ivory butt of a six-gun protruding from a pocket of the black frock coat as it was being tucked back in the pile with the tall hat and shiny boots.

Even the Preacher Himself Must Have Caught Something of the Humor of the Odd Make-up.

the preacher himself must have caught something of the humor of the odd make-up, for his studiously circumspect face relaxed into a suggestion of a grin.

After a mild bit of urging, a prodigious deal of coaching, he was left near shore to hold the brail stick while Jack and Counterman rowed out around as great an expanse of water as the length of the seine permitted.

On nearing the shore at the completion of the circuit, the two rowers leaped into the water the moment it was shallow enough, leaving the boat to Uncle Nick, and raced for the bank at top speed, holding the brail stick to the bottom as they ran.

With the frantic river tribes thus forced to shore, the water began to be wildly agitated. Long ripples shot from side to side of the rapidly diminishing space inclosed by the net, as some panic-stricken swimmer plowed his reckless way near the surface.

Even the preacher's tired and studious eyes waked with the excitement, and he tugged eagerly at the brail as the bass and pickerel began to leap, glittering in the morning sun like silver arrows shot up by the river gods.

"Thar, boys, haul 'er easy," directed Counterman. "We got 'em. They can't git away now. Man! hain't ther' a wad uv 'em! I know'd this was a good hole."

The good fish were dropped into the live box, the others thrown back into the river—precisely as war claims the best men and leaves the defective—and the fisherman seined on.

Several hauls had been made, none of them quite so profitable as the first, and the sun was fast mounting toward mid-sky when, as a wind-up, they prepared to drag the famous Alpine hole that lay along the south edge of the narrow sandbar jutting far downstream from the lower end of the island.

"This hyur's a hard hole 't fish," observed Counterman, handing the near brail to the preacher and taking his place at the oars with Jack, "but they're thar, if we can git 'em."

"Bank's purty steep," called Uncle Nick from his place in the stern. "Better not try 't wade out none."

The preacher nodded and the other stooped to his task at the seine.

UNITED STATES DROPS TO SIXTH PLACE IN SHIPBUILDING

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON.—The United States has dropped from first to sixth place among the shipbuilding nations of the world in the last four years, the Department of Commerce states. Not only Great Britain and Germany but also Italy, France and the Netherlands are building more tonnage than the United States, according to returns for the quarter ended with September. World construction at the close of that quarter was smaller than at any time since the war and represents a decline of 165,000 gross tons in comparison with the quarter ended with June.

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody Will Know.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application, or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

McKeown Preparing to Take Up Duties at National Capital

TOM D. McKEOWN

Congressman Tom D. McKeown and his Secretary, Blaine Gilbreath, are very busy men just now winding up their affairs preparatory to leaving for Washington about November 22 to be in readiness for the opening of congress.

Judge McKeown served four years of the most strenuous days in the history of the nation and at the close of the war he was a victim to the Republican landslide in 1920, being defeated by about 1,600 votes. However, he came back last year, defeating three Democratic opponents in the primary and retiring his Republican opponent by nearly 20,000 votes.

As the congressman sees the situation the chief issues to come before the coming congress will be reduction of taxation, disposition of the Muscle Shoals project, soldiers' bonus and transportation legislation.

He favors economy and the cutting down of taxes and is in favor of making a deal with Henry Ford for the completion and operation of Muscle Shoals. His opinion is that if the farmers are to get on their feet they must be provided with poison for the boll weevil and with fertilizer at cost and will work to that end.

He is also giving attention to the cause of disabled veterans. He is strongly opposed to the policy of putting huge sums into hospitals and then giving the veterans such low ratings that they cannot get into the hospitals when they should be there. What he wants is more action and less red tape. During the war he gave much attention to seeing that the soldier boys got justice and he has not changed his attitude.

He is of the opinion that congress will yet fall back on the proposal he made during his former term that the bonus be paid out of the money and bonds of foreign governments to which the United States made loans.

Object to Imported Hops. LONDON.—British hop growers are working together to prevent the importation of hops. It seems 900,000 hundred weight of foreign hops came into the country during the last three years, and if this amount had been grown locally it would have given employment to 46,000 men at 45 shillings a week.

There will be no celebrations of the Holy Communion either at eight or at eleven. The early service announced last Sunday will therefore not be held. Visitors Sunday will be especially welcomed. ## Goat Eats Dynamite and Alarms Town

(By the Associated Press)
AURORA, Ill., Nov. 16.—What to do with a goat that on Wednesday ate half a pound of nitro-glycerine in gelatine form and munched two sticks of dynamite is perplexing authorities here. No one has been found who is willing to approach the animal. Dick McMahon, owner of the goat, has suggested that the goat be chloroformed, tied on the dump heap, and be detonated by rifle fire, but no one has offered to apply the anesthetic.

The explosives were stored in a shed by workers who were digging a well when the goat found them.

Movie World Now Bombed by Booze Enforcement Law

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 16.—A score of motion picture actors and directors will probably be called before the federal grand jury next week to be questioned about their names and phone numbers found in lists seized from two alleged bootleggers said to be catering to the Hollywood trade, according to H. H. Dolley, chief of the federal prohibition field forces in California.

Dolley said he expected to learn from these persons whether they had evidence on which the compilers of the lists arrested for violation of the Wright act could be convicted.

Tax Payments on County Property Coming in Slow

Taxes for the current year, falling due on November 1 and delinquent after January 1, is gathering little response from the taxable property owners in Pontotoc county, according to J. W. Westbrook, county treasurer.

While tax payments for the current year are coming in exceptionally slow this month, taxpayers are expected to warm up to their county obligations as the time for delinquency draws near. Westbrook stated that taxpayers are already showing a disposition to make payments and the steady stream of payments are expected to consume the latter part of the month and December.

Westbrook stated that taxpayers are turning attention to the payments of delinquent taxes more or less with the object of clearing up past obligations.

BAPTISTS CLOSE ADA CONVENTION

ject will be up a year hence, when it is expected it will be put through.

The evening services opened with devotional exercises led by Rev. P. J. Conkwright, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Sapulpa. He was followed by Dr. H. E. Dana of the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary of Fort Worth. Dr. Dana stressed scholarship and Christian zeal, saying that both are essential and one is in no wise contradictory to the other. He urged support for all the South-wide institutions, the seminaries at Louisville and Fort Worth, and the Bible Institute at New Orleans.

The most of the evening was given over to reports on the Baptist University and plans for the future. Rev. F. W. Carnett, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Bartlesville, made the report and discussed various phases in connection with it. His praise of the institution was lavish, and he was particularly pleased with the fact that evolution is not taught and every member of the faculty is a thorough Christian.

The afternoon session Thursday consisted mainly of reports on Baptist work. After Rev. W. W. Chancellor had conducted the devotional exercises, Mrs. H. E. Deering of Ada reported on the Women's work.

Women's Work Lauded
The report shows wonderful progress. Contributions to charity from the women, exclusive of regular church donations consisted of $8,955.00. The Orphans Home received from the women as follows: 153 general boxes, 5 buckets of candy, 2 sacks apples, 39 coops of chickens, 2 cases of eggs, 6 scrap boxes, 338 boxes clothing, 34 Christmas boxes, 1 sack nuts, 107 barrels fruit, 29 rugs, 35 quilts, 29 bibles, and a number of other things.

In the Louisville Training School Oklahoma has five young women in Fort Worth three, and the aim is to increase this number. The report closes:

"As we note the progress and needs of our workers, we realize the imperative is for more women field workers to go to destitute places, to organize the women and young people and children for constructive work in the churches. Information gives inspiration and produces action."

"The very existence of any organization is justified by the finished product it turns out," says the report on the Baptist Young Peoples Union, "and its perpetuity is maintained largely by the new blood it receives and the young life it enlists and trains for real helpful service to man."

Blount F. Davidson is secretary of the young people's department. His report shows progress and aims for greater. The report was made by Geo. P. Drake, chairman. Every effort is to be made to increase the effectiveness of the work among the young boys and girls, realizing that they must take up the burden of the entire church work within a comparatively short time.

Quills for pens were once so popular that immense flocks of geese were raised for the purpose, Saint Petersburg (now Petrograd), Russia, furnishing England with as high as 27,000,000 quills in a single year.

Didn't Know His Brother

"My brother got so bad with stomach and liver trouble that when I saw him after a year I didn't know hi. He was emaciated and yellow as a pumpkin and was often in great pain. He couldn't have lived long the way he was going. Doctors and medicine gave him no relief. I picked up a little booklet n Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, which he said described his case perfectly. The first dose of it gave him great relief and in a month he was good as ever." It is a simple harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Gwin & Mays and druggists everywhere. adv

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

GOD'S DAILY BENEFITS:—Blessed be the Lord, who daily leadeth us with benefits, even the God of our salvation.—Psalm 68:19.

THE GREAT FORCES.

It has been a pleasure for Ada to entertain the church people who have assembled here this week. They have left impressions upon the city that will make it a better place in which to live. We hope that they will come again before long, just as we hope that other denominations will come. A convention such as this puts more religion and particularly more Christianity into a community, and the results are good.

The three great forces for good, it seems to us, are the churches, the schools, and the press. The churches are the first and essential force for good citizenship and right relations between man and man. The schools train the mind and body, and the thinking man is a better Christian than the unthinking one. The press keeps him informed about the other two and about other matters of importance.

The time once was when many ministers thought it wise to criticize the press, and even now one can be found occasionally. It is true there are newspapers conducted by men who are not good at heart and are not trying to render a real, constructive service. But most of them are trying to render service and are glad to co-operate with the ministers of the gospel in their efforts.

More space is often given to a prize fight than to a revival or an educational meeting. But on the other hand, who ever heard of a newspaper trying to raise money to help a prize fighter? The various Christian denominations have received the whole hearted support of most of the newspapers in their effort to raise funds. It is seldom that a newspaper gives editorial to prize fights, but editorial columns are filled with encouragement of church going and giving.

CUSsing THE PRIMARY SYSTEM

Major Eugene Kerr of the Okmulgee Democrat is apparently not particularly taken with the operation of the primary election system now in vogue in most parts of the United States. He expresses himself thus:

"It is rumored in Oklahoma City that there is a movement on to attempt to amend the primary law and provide for the nomination of candidates by a convention of delegates elected at primary elections. The primary system and county candidates, was evolved to make Tom, Dick and Harry believe they were having a greater part in politics, than under the old system. The primary has proved to be about the worst piece of demagoguery ever placed on the state books. It is splendid plan to fool the people and endow the demagogue with plenty of money to win political honors. In the last five years we have never had a single man defend the primary system. The excuse for not repealing the law has been that the folks would not stand for it. Of course this assumes that the 'folks' are a lot of numbskulls who like to be fooled."

Of course no system is perfect but when it comes to a choice between the old time convention and the primary we are for the latter. Our first experience is political affairs was with the convention system in Texas. We have also mixed up in a few precinct and county conventions in presidential years in Oklahoma and we have seen nothing that makes us want to get back to the old system. In both cases the demagogue and fixer is always on hand and gets in his work if there is any chance of doing so. However, the present law might be modified to an extent that will draw the lines tighter on members of one party voting in the primary of another party.

Former Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana is the sort of fellow who refuses to take a place with the back numbers and has-beens without putting up a hard fight to hold a place in the memory of his fellows. Twice his hopes have been blasted by the pesky Democrats, the first time losing a comfortable berth in senate when Indiana swung into Democratic column some years ago, and again last year, who after defeating Senator New for the Republican nomination he was beaten by his Democratic opponent at the general election. Just now he is trying his hand writing articles for magazines by way of letting the country know he is still on the map and does not intend to be wiped off for the time being.

Of all the crowd of oil promoters at Fort Worth the government has gone after Doc Cook seems to be the hardest to handle—at least his trial has consumed more time than all of the others put together. Cook made the world think for a time that he reached the North Pole and now his problem is to convince a Texas jury that he is not guilty of the charges of heading humbug oil concerns.

The last rain again emphasized the need of good roads in Pontotoc county, but this does mean that we shall get them any time soon.

John Fields in his Oklahoma Farmer says he has nothing to say in regard to the impeachment of Walton beyond what he said last fall. However, his remarks indicate that John is thinking "I told you so," very strongly.

ANNUAL LIVESTOCK SHOW SLATED FOR KANSAS CITY

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 14.—The American Royal Livestock Show, which opens here November 17 for a run of seven days, will occupy more than 10 acres of floor space in the $600,000 building erected last year to house the exhibition.

The show will draw 2,000 head of cattle in the car-lot section alone officials said. These animals are ready or nearly ready to be converted into prime beef, and will be shown in the open stock yards. In the breeding classes of beef cattle more than 300 head each of Herefords and Shorthorns and more than 100 head of Angus cattle already are entered.

The showing of 150 head of milking Shorthorns, arranged for the exhibition, will be an innovation as this will be the first time this type of cattle has been displayed at any national show west of the Mississippi River. Floor space also has been set aside for the dog and pet stock shows.

The horse has not been forgotten. Draft horses and many head of saddle, roadster, driving, hunter and jumping horses, many of the latter two classes entered by the United States Army, will be exhibited.

This year a new department has been added, in which members of all accredited boys' and girls' livestock clubs in the United States Army, will be exhibited.

This year a new department has been added, in which members of all accredited boys' and girls' livestock clubs in the United States will have an opportunity to exhibit the results of their club work. An interstate prize competition is promised.

Russian Refugees Like Belgrade. BELGRADE, Yugoslavia. — No fewer than 40,000 Russians, including a great number of men and women of the best type, are today finding refuge in Belgrade from the rigors of the Soviet regime. They evidently prefer to take their chances of voluntary exile, than risk a return to Russia no matter what fair promises are held out from that country.

It is not unusual to see a Russian who once graced a drawing room doing manual labor in Belgrade, and doing it with a will and efficiently.

Gen. Wrangel, the head of the late "white Army," is living at Novi Sad, near Belgrade, and he and his companions are on short rations.

SAVED SICK SPELLS

Black-Draught Found Valuable by a Texas Farmer, Who Has Known Its Usefulness Over 30 Years.

Naples, Texas.—"I have used Theodor's Black-Draught for years—I can safely say for more than 30 years," declares Mr. H. H. Cromer, a substantial, well-known farmer, residing out from here on Route 3.

"I am 43 years old, and when a small boy I had indigestion and was puny, and my folks gave me a liver regulator. Then Black-Draught was advertised and we heard of it.

"I began to take Black-Draught, and have used it, when needed, ever since. I use Black-Draught now in my home, and certainly recommend it for any liver trouble.

"I have given it a thorough trial, and after thirty years can say Black-Draught is my stand-by. It has saved me many sick spells."

Mr. Cromer writes that he is "never out of Black-Draught," and says several of his neighbors prefer it to any other liver medicine. "I always recommend Black-Draught to my friends," he adds.

"This valuable, old, powdered liver medicine is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, and has none of the bad effects so often observed from the use of calomel, or other powerful mineral drugs. Be sure to get the genuine, Theodor's. NC-145

Oklahoma Crop Notes

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 2.—Oklahoma is again given front page mention in the leading newspapers of the East; This time, the publicity is of such nature as to lend no good whatever in the development of our great resources. It is indeed unfortunate that the political situation now existing is of such nature as might impair economic conditions and throw doubtful ideas among eastern people as to the advantages of Oklahoma. It has been the lot of Oklahoma in receiving publicity from the east to go from one extreme to the other. This is injurious to the growth and prosperity of any commonwealth. Much untrue information has reached editors of eastern papers and published without being challenged or corrected.

Now is the opportune time for Oklahoma industry to launch a shipload of reliable facts throughout the various states of the Union. Let our people write the folks back home and explain to them that Oklahoma is not as black as she has been painted, but in fact is a leader not only in agriculture but in the production of natural resources and a progressive citizenship. The Board of Agriculture is preparing to do its part and is now having printed a bulletin under the caption "Oklahoma Leads." Thousands of these will be mailed to people out of the state informing them of true opportunities to be had within our borders.

Oklahoma will produce this year approximately 791,000 bales of cotton, according to the last official estimate. Say for instance the lint of this crop averages 23 cents per pound, the value of the crop would be about $90,965,000 as compared with last year's value of $73,025,000.

Oklahoma will produce this year about 27,900 tons of broom corn which will carry a value of approximately $4,982,000 based on an average of $175 per ton. Last year the crop brought $3,834,000. Oklahoma produces more broom corn each year than all other broom corn growing states combined. Oklahoma produced 6,017,000 bushels more of wheat this year than last and the quality of the grain was excellent due to the most favorable weather during harvest. The forecast indicates a production of 19,721,000 bushels of grain sorghums which will carry a value of $15,776,000 if the price is no higher than it was last year.

Drouth seriously affected the production of both tame and wild hays in Oklahoma this year, cutting the yield materially below last year. The forecast of production on pecans is 2,258,000 pounds more than last year.

Of the 77 counties in the state, 38 produce oil or gas or both. 300 townships produce oil or gas. In 1922, there were approximately 35,437 producing wells, 242 separate and distinct producing fields. In 1922, Oklahoma produced 150 million barrels of crude oil valued at $150,000,000. The value of lead and zinc produced in Oklahoma in 1922 was exceeded in the years 1915, '16, '17 and 1920, but the results of the 1922 operations show that the industry is now recovering from a serious depression.

The season for the inspection of Oklahoma nurseries has come to a close with the inspector reporting a total of 60 nurseries having received investigation. The damage from the white ant was negligible this year, while last year the injury was said to be great.

A canoe in the hands of a despondent lover and an automobile in the hands of a drunken driver are the nation's greatest slipping evils.

It is reported that a certain couple while driving on the highway did not discover that the gas tank was empty until they had remained where they were for four hours.

He even adored the ground she walked on. In the first place there was plenty of it and quite valuable in its location.

In the second place she was the only child. So, I repeat, he adored the ground she walked on.

Martial law had been in vogue too long. There is not a thrill left in a uniform, even for the flappiest flapper.

Meet her.
Greet her.
Treat her.
Beat her.

Hints to Husbands

Give her tart replies—they add a spice to life. Don't give her pin money—she might get stuck. Praise other women—she likes to hear it. Don't buy her jewelry—she'll think you are extravagant. Don't take her to the theatre—so many of the plays are immoral. Don't tell her where you've been—let her guess. Take home more candy and less "taffy."

Hints to Wives

Saddle him with cares—that will keep him in the bridal path. Give him one dresser drawer for his very own—then pile it full of your own things. Don't comb your hair before breakfast—he likes you to look natural. Keeping him boiling hot—it makes him tender. Flirt with other men—that keeps him interested. Poster Artists to Meet

CINCINNATI, Oct. 5.—Many of the greatest artists and art teachers in the world are expected here next week to attend the 33d annual convention of the Poster Advertising Association, according to officers of the association. Approximately 1,000 delegates will be present.

The general public has been invited to attend all sessions in order that it may learn of what the poster people are trying to accomplish in their crusade for clean outdoor advertising. The organization, according to the officers, does not go in for the erection of bill boards but considers them an "abuse" of outdoor advertising.

RUTH ASKS HOME
RUN SERIES GAIT

Bambino Seeking New Honor
From World Series
This Year.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Home runs have played an important part in the world's series ut as yet the records reveal no startling feats of clouting by the greatest hitter of them all—Babe Ruth. The Bambino starred as a twirler with the Red Sox in the series of 1916 and 1918 but, as a regular outfielder with the Yankees, he was handicapped by injuries in the 1921 series and last season was badly off form.

Playing the best all-around game of his career this year, Ruth may come into his own in the championship struggle and take his place among the hitting immortals of the title classic.

Ruth has one homer in his series record, made in 1921. The marks at which he will try to shoot this fall include the best all-time series total, three, held jointly by J. Franklin Baker and Larry Gardner; the highest total for a single series, two, held jointly by eleven players; and the single game record of two, held by Harry Hooper and Benny Kauff.

Elmer Smith, now a member of the Yankees, holds the only player ever to hit a homer with the bases full during a series, a feat he accomplished with Cleveland in the 1920 series with Brooklyn. The homer was made off Burleigh Grimes.

The greatest fame as a series clouter belongs to "Home Run" Baker, of the old Athletics. Curiously enough, all three of Baker's circuit wallops were recorded at the expense of the Giants, two of them winning games for the Mack-men. In the 1911 series, Baker's home run off Marquard in the game of October 16, with Collins on base, and the score tied, gave the verdict to the Philadelphia club 3 to 1. Two years later, a homer by Baker gave the Athletics their winning margin in a game with the Giants, again with Marquard pitching and Collins on the bags.

Baker's other homer, made in the 1911 series, was off Mathewson, and came in the ninth inning with the Giants leading, 1 to 0. It thus tied the score and the Athletics won out in the eleventh.

Other homers that proved deciding factors in series contests were made by Joe Tinker, of the old Chicago Cubs; Fred Clarke, when he was manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates; Danny Murphy, of the Athletics; Harry Hooper, of the Red Sox; Larry Gardner of Cleveland; Oscar Felsch, of the Chicago White Sox; and Benny Kauff, of the Giants.

"Volunteer day" was recently celebrated in Paris, when delegations of foreign volunteers of 20 nations, including Americans, took their old battle flags from the war museum and assembled in the Invalides court. Nine years ago, 20,000 foreigners volunteered for service in the French army.

SCHOOL NOTES

Irving School Notes.

We have the following victories to report in athletics since our last writeup:

Irving light weights defeated Willard light weights in football 7 to 0.

Irving mixed team defeated Washington first team in football 7 to 0.

In girls' basketball, Irving first team defeated Willard first team 18 to 4.

Irving second team defeated Willard second team 3 to 2.

Irving second team defeated Washington mixed team 8 to 3.

The girls' first team has played around the neighboring teams that they are planning to get some games at a distance in order to get some practice.

The girls' second team has met and defeated teams from all the other wards except one. We are very anxious this school should accept our challenge and meet the second team at an early date.

On November 14 the football boys had a game scheduled with Roff. Owing to the weather they were unable to make the trip.

Earl Thompson, a star football player, of last year has entered school.

Marlin Baker, another player has re-entered school.

We are expecting several more boys to enter soon.

The Mothers' club will meet this afternoon at 2:30. Refreshments will be served.

The orchestra meets every Wednesday for practice and several members are taking private lessons.

Miss Mitchell reports a large candy sale this week. Everyone is keeping sweet.

We had one hundred thirty-five pupils who were neither absent nor tardy for the past month ending November 2.

We have all of our pupils weighed and measured up to the fifth grade. A report has been sent to each parent who has children in the above grades.

We expect to finish this work in the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades this week.

The students had charge of chapel this morning. The following program was given:

Director of program, Lois Roberts. Quartet by Audra Buchanan, Viola Collins, soprano; Oleta Stiles, Mozell McGuire, alto.

Tio, Huddle Northcut, Evelyn Tucker, and Viola Collins.

Song by Johnny Izard, pianist, Viola Collins.

Song by chorus girls, "Old Folks at Home."

Reading by Viola Collins. Reading by Waunita Pitt. Piano solo by Gorman Donaghey.

The program was very much enjoyed by the student body and teachers.

Our football team played the Washington team on their field and won another victory with a score of 12 to 0.

Our P. T. A. met yesterday. There was a large number of mothers present.

A motion was made and seconded that we change our regular meeting to the third Wednesday afternoon of each month. Motion carried. This was one of our most interesting meetings and all seemed to enjoy the refreshments very much.

Suicide Failure is Sad News

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—Frank Halligan, railroad clerk, thought he was dead for several hours last night and when informed by a hospital interne that he was alive, he was loath to believe it.

According to the police Halligan attempted suicide by firing a revolver at his head but ducked as he pulled the trigger. He dropped to the ground motionless and a policeman took him to the hospital with a slight wound on his ear apparently unconscious.

Blake Anti-Klan Bill Filed With Secretary of State

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 16.—An anti-Ku Klux Klan bill initiated by Aldrich Blake, deputy commissioner to Gov. J. C. Walton, was filed today with the secretary of state. The bill requires that the membership roll of every secret organization shall be made of record four times each year in the office of the county clerk of every county of the state, prevents sending threatening or intimidating letters and prohibits wearing masks. Blake announced that plans had been made to circulate the petition and that the work will be rushed. He said that 42,000 signatures will be necessary to place the measure on the ballot.

Gentry Brothers Here
Owing to the late arrival of Gentry Bros. Shows they were unable to give a parade, however a complete performance was given this afternoon and another one will be given at 8 tonight. The performance this year is far superior to any ever given by Gentry Bros. Many high class acts having been added to the dog and pony part of the program. The show is under the management of Mr. J. D. Adkins and is clean and free from any gambling devices or objectionable features.

GERMANS DIVERT EARNING SCALE

Various Lowly Jobs Worked by Germans to Boost Salaries.

(By the Associated Press)
LEPSIZ.—This is a time of by-occupations in Germany. Doctors, lawyers, teachers, professors, scientists, dentists, preachers, government employees and actors who still cling to their old callings are, for the most part, doing something else in their free time to piece out their incomes.

Stock brokerage and money-changing are popular sidelines for professional folk. All sorts of securities are in great demand among persons who wish to get rid of their marks as soon as possible, with the result that there is flourishing business for bond and securities agents, who conduct their business in a more or less secret way.

Everybody is dodging taxes, consequently there is a great desire among persons with funds to conceal their wealth.

Many professional men have also become agents for coal dealers. There are many restrictions on the sale of fuel. Consequently it is bootlegged, much as foreign money is.

Manual labor is much better paid than many professions, with the result that men of excellent education are accepting positions as janitors and street cleaners. One Berlin lawyer who had a lucrative practice before the war is now running a dustcart, and is much happier than many of his associates in the practice of the law who are waiting in idleness for clients to visit them in unheated offices.

Waiters are hard-pressed in their work by students and unemployed men of excellent education who are willing to accept any sort of work which will supply them with nourishing food and a warm place to sleep.

Hotel prices have soared so high that most of the larger hotels have been emptied and their patrons have sought private lodgings to the great delight of women who have large apartments and are glad to get roomers who will pay higher prices than persons who get rooms assigned to them through the housing committees.

He was first elected to the Reichstag in 1884 and was repeatedly re-elected.
